

Development of robot understanding

Mr. Ben Longstaff

This project attempts to undertake the task of developing and demonstrating robotic understanding. This is an extension of robotic learning implemented via a simplistic thought process and memory structure. The result of the project will be a visual thought process that shows robot's thought process and how the robot is able to use its past experiences to demonstrate its understanding of concepts.